

Creating places where people want to live, work and play.

Commonwealth is committed to the communities we help develop. We change the lives of our residents and the neighborhood they call home. We are small enough to be more efficient and provide cost savings.

Our company is large enough to give every project the needed technical expertise and workforce. What we do and how we do it unites us. The smiles we see at the end of a project, in the buildings and the boardrooms, are what always pushes us to do what's right and what's best.

What we do.

Development

We call it inspiring a community.

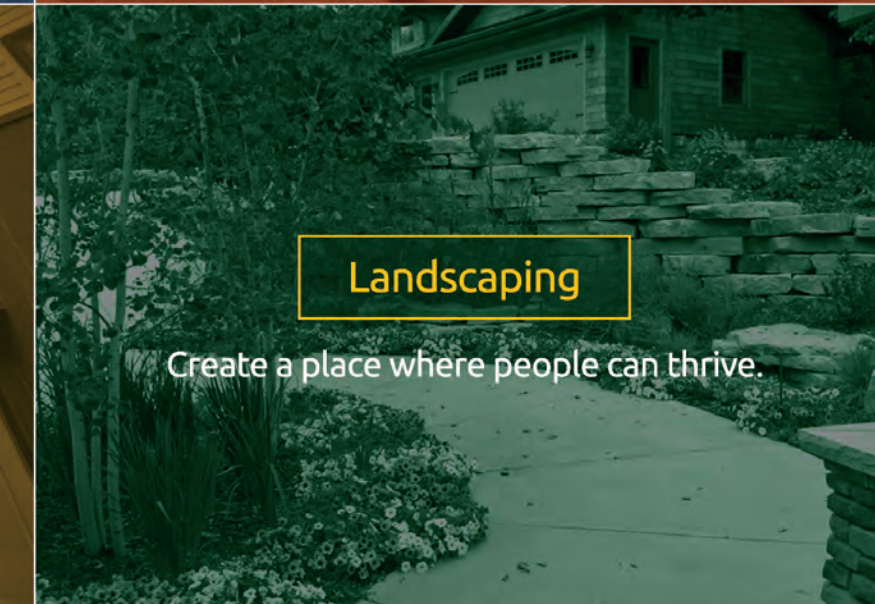

Construction

Building positive change.

Property Management

A place to bring people together.

Landscaping

Create a place where people can thrive.

We open doors to opportunity.

We see a community's structure, design, heart, and soul.

We bring extensive knowledge and business insight to every project we take on. We work closely with our customers to understand every aspect of their project. We have proven throughout our history that the best solutions come from knowing the goals of the community, the aspirations of the neighborhood, and the hopes of future residents.

Every project is bigger than a building.

Whether it's creating something from the ground up or reimagining an existing structure, we see more than a floorplan. We see the opportunity to help a community thrive. A way to help people find a home, not just an apartment. And most importantly, we see the possibility to help make a difference.

We are just a small part of bigger things to come to a community.
